DIPTYQUE'S
MAP OF
STARS

A winter's night – very dark, very quiet.
Spellbound by the immensity of the heavens, we look up, luxuriating in contemplation of the starry canopy...
How miraculous. Millions of golden stars twinkling in the black sky – a delicate glittering that pulses in our pupils as they widen in the dark, creating a giddy feeling in which the intimate and the infinite intertwine.

Heavenly bodies beyond number, like a blizzard. Suddenly our eyes narrow – can it be...?

Gold and silver letters appear in the black night. Words of wonder emerge amid the stars... It's the map of the heavens, reinvented by Diptyque on this festive night.

Here is Diptyque's emblematic script, strung across the double oval of the celestial vault and spelling out the names of the 88 southern and northern constellations. Leo, Aquarius, Andromeda, Pegasus – their every nuance shimmering against an inky sky, the dancing letters seem caught in the cosmic game of motion.

Enthralled by this work of art, our eye embarks on a poetic journey from constellation to constellation, each one opening up vistas of reverie and tales of wonder ... Here are desert voyagers, relying on the stars to keep from becoming lost. Over there are sailors, discovering unknown constellations above their seas. Further on, oracles atop the pyramids seek to know the will of the heavens. In every corner of the world, scholars and dreamers are probing the mysteries of the night... From all these myths, legends, and magical places, Diptyque has drawn inspiration to enhance its sky chart and carry us off towards a new, faraway destination.

Dazzled, we allow our imagination to set sail... Beneath this starlit sky reinvented by the Maison's artistic sensibilities, Diptyque has brought together all its warm-hearted, thoughtful gift choices. In a charming decorative setting, the stars and glowing letters illuminate the sky chart in gold and silver and decorate the products in the collection for this end-of-year holiday.

Here, stars in white, gold, and silver have settled on each of the three limited edition Diptyque scented candles. They bring to life the intense colors and festive perfumes of the different blends of wax. The deep green Sapin (Pine Tree) candle exhales woody notes blended with accents of mimosa, as soft and sweet as stardust. The Neige (Snow) candle, muted and gentle as a blue night, releases a silky harmony of heliotrope flowers and white musks. The Étincelles (Sparkles) candle comes in a warm dark red. Its scent recalls the comforting fragrance of a wood fire, softened by mouth-watering notes of coffee and cocoa.

A little further on, our eye is caught by a mysterious celestial object in deepest black: the Diptyque advent calendar – a night sky like no other, decked out in a phosphorescent Milky Way. Each day in December is matched to a separate constellation and each offers a fresh surprise, including the three scents associated with this limited edition collection: Sapin, Neige, and Étincelles.

In the pure night air, an oval bottle in a transparent glossy black appears among the stars. Through the darkness we discern scented rattan reeds and decorative glass stems blown by master glassmaker Nyvine. This is the limited edition Diptyque home fragrance diffuser – a precious object that adds elegance and choice fragrances to this festive night.

More radiant than ever, a twinkling multitude of stars also covers the exclusive new vessel housing the extra large version of the Baies (Berries) candle. The vessel is made by hand at the French Virebent factory, with a black enamel finish speckled with real gold. A priceless housing for the iconic Baies fragrance.

All at once, the incomparable scent of Eau Rose eau de parfum is carried to us on the night breeze. For the holiday season, this iconic personal fragrance comes clad in a unique, limited edition decoration. Here, golden-hued roses with facets picked out in subtle relief on the Diptyque oval bring further enchantment to this emblematic perfume and its bottle, which comes nestled in a dark red case spangled with stars and dancing letters.

Dizzy with sensations, our thoughts turn to the festive table, where moments of joy are shared in a whirl of lights and fragrances. The dinner candles, a new Diptyque creation, in moulded, perfumed wax, gently share their radiance. Three ribbed candles in the soft colours of winter, branded with a stamp at the bottom and accompanied by gold-coloured candle holders – sold separately – give the table its festive feel while giving out three iconic scents: Baies (Berries), Ambre (Amber), and Feu de bois (Wood Fire).

Adding a warm-hued enchantment to the evening are the lantern and the carousel, which this year come decorated with countless gold-coloured ovals emblematic of Diptyque. When positioned atop the Maison's iconic candles, the finely engraved lantern or the pendants on the carousel revolve around the flame like heavenly bodies around the sun. Caught up in the dance of shadows and light, the room takes on a fairy-tale ambience.

The wondrous stellar voyage is drawing to a close. The stars seem to have resumed their usual placid paths. Still, after such an extraordinary night-time experience, we sense that these holidays will be unique. From the smallest gesture to the most extravagant present, Diptyque's sky chart gathers together the most glorious gift-giving inspirations.

Transformed by this cosmic meditation, we continue our preparations for the holidays – but our head is still lost in the stars.
